

EDENRED'S FINANCIAL COMMUNICATIONS ON THE PODIUM AGAIN

Le Revenu has honored Edenred with two awards for the quality of its shareholder services and relations

On November 30, 2017, Edenred's financial communications won the Gold Award for Best Shareholder Services and the Bronze Award for Best Shareholder Relations, both for companies in the SBF 120 stock market index (excluding CAC 40 firms), at the annual Shareholder Relations Awards ceremony held by French investment monthly Le Revenu.

These awards recognize the full range of the Group's shareholder outreach initiatives, in particular the tools implemented to ensure regular contact across all information channels, as well as the dynamism, imagination and simplicity of its shareholder services, which encompass solutions designed to continually foster close relationships and dialogue with individual shareholders.

"These two awards from Le Revenu's editorial board reflect our shareholders' high level of satisfaction and loyalty," said Patrick Bataillard, Executive Vice President of the Edenred Group. "We are constantly working to improve the quality of our meetings and exchanges with our shareholders, as with all of our stakeholders."

Edenred's financial communications were also honored in September 2017, when they won the Transparency Grand Prix in the "Industrial Goods and Services" sector for the fourth year running. This award assesses the financial communications of French companies listed on the SBF 120 index through four documents (the annual Registration Document, the Charter of Ethics, the website and the Notice to the Annual Shareholders' Meeting) based on 158 criteria. The jury is made up of an independent scientific committee which validates the methodology and results.
